

Clark Throssel, Ph.D.

Clark Throssel, Ph.D., is Director of Research for the Golf Course Superintendents Association of America (GCSAA). He leads a competitive grants program that funds scientists to conduct applied agronomic, environmental and regulatory research to benefit golf course superintendents. In addition, Clark is a technical reviewer for the research section of Golf Course Management magazine. He is GCSAA's liaison to the turfgrass scientific community and represents GCSAA on several turf industry committees.
